

Now offering a seminar providing much needed information for parents who would like to know how they can make informed decisions for their children who are struggling with reading, as well as suggestions on how parents can help improve the critical reading skills of their young, normally developing children

FREE Reading with TLC seminar designed for parents:

“What Every Parent Needs to Know About Reading”

Tuesday, May 31st, 7:00pm – 8:30pm

Comfort Inn – Randolph, MA

presented by

Nancy Telian, M.S., CCC-SLP and Penny Castagnozzi

Seating is limited - registration is required

Seminar includes:

- Key points from the current research on reading development
- Explanation of the popular Response to Intervention (RtI) Model
- Discussion on questions to ask your teachers/administrators
- Advice on advocating for your child’s reading development
- Strategies for improving phonemic awareness, phonics, & sight words
- Brief overview of Lively Letters & Sight Words You Can See programs
- Question and answer session

Seminar Presenters

Nancy Telian, a speech language pathologist with 32 years of experience (20 of those years specializing in reading therapy), and Penny Castagnozzi, who has a background in elementary education and has also been providing reading therapy for struggling students for 20 years. Both are co-founders and co-directors of Reading with TLC and creators of its two featured programs, Lively Letters and Sight Words You Can See. These programs are implemented in almost every school district in Massachusetts, in all states of the U.S., and in six foreign countries, successfully used in both regular education and special education instruction. Nancy and Penny present nationally, and in Canada, on the topics of literacy and the Response to Intervention model, and continue to directly service struggling students through private practices in Weymouth, MA. In the past twenty years of tutoring reading impaired students, Telian and Castagnozzi have helped hundreds of parents by guiding them through the sometimes confusing and complex systems in place for obtaining help for their children in the area of reading.

Register for the seminar or learn more about our programs by:
visiting us online at www.readingwithTLC.com calling us at 781-331-7412 or 866-TLC-READ emailing us at info@readingwithTLC.com